

Photography Competition 2022

Following on from the success of a photograph competition held by the local charity, The Greenwich Society in 2021, it has been decided that the Westcombe Woodlands is going to organise a similar competition for people who come along to the Woodlands' volunteer mornings and open day events for both members and non-members. The main rule is that all photos should be taken inside or of the woodlands.

There will be six categories, depending on age and subject, with the winning photographs being not only displayed on the Westcombe Woodlands' website, but also for inclusion in our anticipated calendar for 2023.

Entries are to be submitted by October and for there to be a prize winning event to take place soon after the early Autumn Open Day event, to allow for the potential production and sale of calendars at the November and December volunteer mornings.

The Chairman of Westcombe Woodlands, Tim Barnes, will be contributing £600.00 from the Peter Harris Trust to fund the prizes. Each winner of the 6 categories below will receive £100.00. All entries will be judged by a panel of judges whose details will be announced at a later date and the judges will select 6 winners which, in their opinion, best capture The Westcombe Woodlands character in the months that this competition is running.

The categories are for children up to the age of 15 and for those ages 16 and over. These will be sub-divided as below:

- 1 Age 16 and over with a main subject of any flora or fauna
- 2 Age 15 and under with a main subject of any flora or fauna
- 3 Age 16 and over depicting people in the woodlands
- 4 Age 15 and under depicting people in the woodlands
- 5 Any age and any subject but using non-specialist or low budget equipment including the use of mobile telephones
- 6 Any age and subject but using professional equipment

No "enhancements" other than minor increases in light and dust spot removal. The aim of the competition is to keep photographs relevant and relatable to the viewers. Items that judges will be considering include, but are not limited to composition, interesting subject matter, timing, ethical approach (such as not disturbing the subject or surroundings unduly) and other skills as much as high image quality.

While we want to keep the competition as fun and as relaxed as possible, we will need to have some rules so that no one can say "unfair" or "I wasn't aware of that". We hope the following will not be too onerous.

The main purpose of the competition is for people to submit their photos to the Westcombe Woodlands for potential inclusion in our proposed 2023 calendar. All photos submitted will be deemed to have any copyright surrendered in the Westcombe Woodlands favour with the ultimate aim being that peoples' skills can be enjoyed by all. In addition we would like to display the winners and other photos we feel best reflect the character and nature of The Woodland on our website www.westcombewoodlands.uk, our Facebook page, our Twitter page @WestcombeWood, our YouTube channel and any subsequent email communications.

Nominated entries and winners' names will be acknowledged. Photos must be emailed to westcombewoodlands@hotmail.co.uk and we ask for entries to have the name of person who took the photograph, the category in which the photo is to be considered and the date it was taken. The date will allow for photos to reflect the month of the calendar.
